New Data Reporting Tools: Additional Limousine Applicants

As announced last week, the Board has posted new Excel spreadsheets for limousine companies to use when they apply to add vehicles to their fleet. The new limousine data workbook has two spreadsheets:

- Monthly Trips and Bookings
- Daily Trips and Bookings

The spreadsheets give applicants a way to report and analyze limousine trip information, and they are adaptable. Applicants can customize them so the information they present is relevant to their operation and application. They also encourage applicants to provide year-over-year trip information. This can help identify trends. The Board looks at this type of information when considering public need.

The new limousine spreadsheets are optional. They are one type of public need indicator that applicants provide to demonstrate public need for additional vehicles. Other types of public need indicators are described in Application Guide 7: I want to add limousines to my fleet.

We recommend that managers and owners of limousine companies review the spreadsheets and consider using them when applying for more limousines. It is important to do this now to make sure the right kind of data is collected in advance.

The Board welcomes feedback and suggestions on the new data spreadsheets. We are especially interested in hearing from limousine operators who are preparing or planning to make an application.
